From cradle to crossroads

From Cradle To Crossroads
Bible Study Passages: Luke 2:4-7, 22-32, 52
Lesson for December 19, 1982
Introduction

During the Christmas season we normally focus our attention upon the infant Jesus and the circumstances surrounding his birth. There may be a tendency to simplify the nativity account of Jesus' birth and overlook the tremendous implications of his birth on history. His birth was far from simple.

From the cradle to the crossroads of cosmopolitan life, Jesus emerged as a Saviour who would become intimately involved in human struggles. His mother Mary sensed from the beginning that she was not giving birth to any ordinary baby. This baby would alter the course of human history, religious beliefs, and traditions. Jesus did not come to introduce a new religion, but to demonstrate and proclaim the truth about his heavenly Father.

Jesus was the Son of God who became the God-Man and entered the human drama in order to point people to the kingdom. Jesus was not a "wandering star" in some remote corner of the galaxy, totally unconcerned about the human drama on earth. Jesus was a cosmopolitan man who engaged human troubles at the crossroads where people lived and engaged in evil. This week's lesson looks at some of the complexities surrounding the birth of this special child.

From Ordinary Beginnings [Luke 2:4-7]

Jesus was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth! Jesus did not come from "royal stock" even though Joseph was a descendant from David. Some were surely disappointed that the Messiah did not emerge amidst pomp and grandeur. Instead, he was born to a handmaiden in a manger behind a crowded inn.

God acts in surprising ways. We may look for him in the spectacular but find him in the ordinary. Out of humble beginnings he gives the gift of life, both abundant and eternal. God did not proclaim the Christ-child through a "star burst", but in a manger stall out back of a crowded inn.

Advent and Expectation [Lk. 2:22-32]

Mary took Jesus through the same Jewish purification customs bestowed upon any Jewish male. He was circumcised on the eighth day, followed by a ceremony of purification at the temple. In the temple was an old man waiting to see the infant Jesus. He had been promised that he would not die before witnessing the glory of God's Messiah, the man's name was Simeon.

Simeon had a profound sense of expectancy. The season of Advent is a season of longing and expecting for the return of Christ, as well as an expected waiting for a rebirth of the nativity story. Each year we wait for the arrival of Christmas Day as a day of joy and celebration of the birth of Jesus. We would do well to maintain a sense of wonder and expectation for God to surprise us with his blessing.

A Child Going Places [Lk. 2:52]

The early years of Jesus were stormy in that Herod had issued a special edict to kill all male children two years old and under. Herod was threatened by the news of this new king upon whose shoulders the government would rest and whose reign should know no end. Herod set out to eliminate the competition. Mary and Joseph took Jesus and fled into hiding until Herod's reign of terror subsided.

The scriptures say that Jesus increased in wisdom and stature. Jesus exercised both his body and mind. Jesus differed from other children in his spiritual awareness and openess to God. This fact is reflected in Jesus' choice to remain at the temple long after his parents had started home. Naturally they were concerned as any parent would be over their missing child, but Jesus simply told them that they should have known where he would be. Despite the infraction of the home rules, Jesus was an obedient son who grew up surrounded by loving and caring parents.

Mrs. Joseph Neale Foxwell

Miss Helen Carole Beaty and Mr. Joseph Neale Foxwell were united in marriage before a candle lighted altar of cream poinsettias on Saturday, December 11, 1982, at half past four o'clock in the afternoon at Liberty Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Albert Beaty, junior of Appomattox. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stafford Foxwell also of Appomattox.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Blanche Poe of Appomattox and the late Mr. Clarence C. Poe, and Mrs. Maude F. Beaty of Louisville, Alabama and the late Mr. James A. Beaty, Sr. The bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. Mary McCue of Richmond and the late Mr. Meredith J. McCue, and Mrs. Elizabeth Selph of Fredericksburg and the late Mr. John Foxwell.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Reverend Robert L. Alderman, pastor of the Shenandoah Baptist Church in Roanoke, Virginia. Reverend Alderman is a former pastor of the bride.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Maymond Mitchell, pianist, and Mrs. J. Franklin Vaughan, organist. James Beaty, III, brother of the bride, sang "The Wedding Song," "This Is The Day," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown of candlelight chantilly lace over slipper satin fashioned with a natural waistline. Designed with a Victorian neckline, the fitted bodice with tapered lace sleeves was accented by a satin cummerbund. The skirt extended into a chapel train finished in a deep ruffle. Her finger tip tulle veil fell from a pearl crusted tiara previously worn by her mother.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of cream and white rosebuds, stephanotis, lily of the valley, tiger lilies and ivy.

Mrs. Alfred Moore of Appomattox was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald Williams and Mrs. Raymond Tweedy of Appomattox, sisters of the bride; Mrs. Donald Almond and Miss Teresa Lettner, both of Appomattox, and Miss Scarlet Foxwell of Richmond, sister of the bridegroom.

They wore two piece slipper length suits of Christmas green moire taffeta. The fitted jacket featured a neckline rimmed in ruffles and long graceful sleeves finished in a similar trim. Cream fur muffs trimmed with holly and streamers completed their ensemble.

Miss Jennifer Tweedy and Miss Shannon Williams, nieces of the bride, were junior bridesmaids.

Their waltz length dresses of candlelight moire taffeta featured a scooped neckline with elbow length sleeves gathered at the cap. Ruffles enhanced the neck, sleeves and skirt. They carried baskets of cascading Christmas greenery.

The bridegroom's father served as best man and the groomsmen were John Foxwell, brother of the bridegroom, James Beaty, III and Tom Cheryba, all of Appomattox; Casey McCue of Richmond, cousin of the bridegroom; and Fred Mays of Lynchburg. They wore ivory tuxedos.

The mother of the bride wore a mauve floor length gown of crepe de chine. The mother of the bridegroom chose a floor length gown of burgundy crepe. Both wore phalaenopsis orchids.

Mrs. Lloyd Walton of Appomattox directed the wedding. Miss Suzanne Beaty, of Birmingham, Alabama and Miss Tricia Poe of Newport News, Virginia, cousins of the bride, attended the guest books.

After a reception in the church fellowship hall, the couple left on a wedding trip to St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.
